BATTLEPLANE IS AIR DEMON

Device Carries Twelve Men and Two Three-inch Cannon

ARMORED CRUISERS

Awe-Inspiring Demonstration Given —Battleplane is First Practical Aerial Dreadnaught.

Paris, Oct. 9—An aerial army is no longer a dream of romance. Such an army, formed in divisions and squadrons, with battle aeroplanes, cruiser aeroplanes, scouts and torpedo planes all armored heavily and carrying three-inch cannon and rapid-fire guns, is a reality. It has been made possible through the remarkable developments of military aviation in France.

The French government has permitted the first inspection of its new fleet of aeroplanes. Opportunity was given to inspect the large and small types of the new battle planes, and watch them as they were maneuvering high in the air, firing round after round from their three-inch rifles while they soared, and darted about.

The aviation field is a vast inclosure. Entering the field, a monster battle loomed up 30 plane high, with a number of planes stretching 130 feet across. Further back was ranged the fleet of battle cruisers and scout planes. They were formed like a battalion, 20 planes in a row across the front and 10 deep. Their huge wings made a front half a mile wide.

The battle plane and all the cruisers were armed heavily. Each carried both the three-inch cannon and the rapid-fire gun.

The huge battle plane was the chief center of attention. The engineer who constructed it explained the details. The officers said this was the first actual realization of the battle plane other aerial dreadnaughts having proved to be impractical. This monster actually flies, carrying a crew of 12 men, with two cannon on the wings throwing three-inch steel projectiles. Three trial flights have been made, demonstrating that it has the steadiness of an ordinary biplane. The battle line. The regular crew for fighting will consist of four men and an officer.

The armored cruiser aeroplanes were then brought out and put through tests high in the air. They are small biplanes of high power. Each is armed with a cannon and is capable of rising almost vertically from the ground at a speed of 90 miles an houh. Captain Frantz and Operators Mondelli and Mallard made successive flights in cruisers, rising from the ground at an angle of 60 degrees.

The steady roar of the three-inch rifles continued as the cruisers circled far above. Mallard was the most daring operator. He fired the big gun while plunging from side to side and dropping rapidly, immitating the maneuvers carried out while engaging an enemy.

A large number of these battle cruisers is now ready. Several of them recently carried out a night bombardment far back of the German line. During the Champagne engagement these cruisers hit a German balloon, which exploded in a mass of flames.

This, however, was only the initial trial. The battle planes and cruisers are soon to begin movements in large squadron both defensive and offensive. They are to attack the German lines of communication, particularly the railway junctions, with the object of cutting off supplies and spreading demoralization in the rear of the Germans.

Each squadron will consist of nine aeroplanes of all types, including one battle plane, two battle cruisers and six scout planes. The complement for a squadron will be upward of 50 officers and men for the operation of the aeroplanes and their transportation on lorries drawn by automobiles, with which each squadron will be equipped.

SERVIANS CRUSH AUSTRO-GERMANS

Advance Guard of Invaders is Entirely Wiped Out in Battle

FEARFUL SLAUGHTER

Penned on River Bank at Three Points Teutonic Allies Attempt to Cross and Save Danube.

Paris, Oct. 9—So decisively have the Serbians defeated the Austro-Germans, who tried to capture the Belgrade-Constantinople railroad, today's dispatches from Nish assert, that it is predicted that no further advance will be attempted until Marshal von Mackensen is heavily re-enforced.

Contesting the crossings of the Save and the Danube, Serb detachments have held the Teutonic advance columns to the river banks or are engaged fiercely with them in the vicinity of the crossings. The Germanic troops who moved over from Semlin to occupy Belgrade seem to have met with a real reverse, having been either killed or captured.

London, Oct. 9—The advance guard of the Austro-Germans who crossed the Danube at Belgrade has been partly destroyed and partly captured, and those who entered Serbian territory across the Save have met with enormous losses, according to an official dispatch received by the Serbian Legation from Nish.

This news fro Nish came several hours after an announcement from Berlin that the Teutonic invasion was proceeding favorably. The Berlin dispatch stated that the German army Headquarters had issued a statement reporting that the German and Austrian armies under Field Marshal von Mackensen were crossing the Drina Save and Danube rivers and that three cannon opposite the Serbian town of Ram, on the Danube river had been captured.

The dispatch to the Serbian Legation from Nish says:

"On the northern frontier, the enemy has crossed the Save at Yarak the Isle of Progarska, at Zabrez, opposite Ostrusnitza, and at the great Isle of Ciganlia, and on the Danube at the Belgrade fortress, at the Qua and at Ram.

"The advance guard which crossed at the Belgrade fortress has been partly destroyed and partly captured.

"At Yarak, Zabrez and the Isle of Progarska, after several fierce attacks the enemy has been pinned to the very brink of the river with enormous losses. At the other crossing points the struggle continued.

"At Belgrade, two officers and over 100 soldiers were captured, of whom 18 were from the Two Hundred and Fourth Infantry Regiment of the Forty-third German division. Among the captured were also soldiers of a Prussian brigade belonging to the Fifteenth Army Corps, which came here from the Italian frontier."

YESTERDAY'S GAME

Runs Made on Five of the Flukiest Hits Game Has Ever Known.

Philadelphia, October 9— Grover Cleveland Alexander, won his game from the Red Sox yesterday, but the victory was far from being the impressive one his teammates of the Philadelphia Nationals had predicted. The breaks of the game were with the star pitcher of the National League and had to be to give him the honor of winning the first world's series contest in which he has participated. Through a sequence of plays as unusual as ever seen upon a ball field the Phillies won by 3 to 1.

They made these three runs on five of the flukiest hits the game has even known, a Texas leaguer which developed into the first run of the series being the only safe ball driver out of the diamond by a Philadelphia batsman. It had been predicted the short outfield would prove the winning factor for the locals in their own little park out on Broad street, but contrary to all expectations, it was the infield, wet and heavy from 15 hours of rain, that turned the tide in their favor.

It was a mediocre ball game, this first of the big series, for despite the few errors of commission there were several of omission and two or three plays which will go down in base-ball history as tinged with an ivory hue Strangely enough, it was the Red Sox, veterans in battling for the highest honors of the game, who were guilty of the slips, although the offending individuals were new members of the team.

BACKS OPTIMISM

Bernstorff Quotes Paper that Says Bulgaria's Entry Into War is Great German Victory.

New York, Oct. 9—Count Johann von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, while refusing to enlarge on his reference to Germany as a "winning country," took the attitude that he who runs may read. The Ambassador never has by any utterance compromised the assertion he made soon after the war began, when the Germans were triumphantly driving on to Paris: "The war is won. Whatever happens on the sea, it is certain that Germany cannot be defeated on land."

Thursday the Ambassador, without giving an interview, was able to make his point of view clear by pointing to English testimony.

"If I said anything about Germany as a winning country," he remarked, "it was not for publication. I recommend the article in a British paper, in which it is said that the entrance of Bulgaria is the greatest diplomatic victory Germany has won since the war began, and that this victory could not have been obtained if the Balkan States were not unanimously of the opinion that Germany is going to win."

PRINCE OF WALES SHOT

French Corporal Becomes Incensed at Attentions to His Wife

New York, Oct. 9—The Sun has received the following from a correspondent in Paris, under date of September 28, who sent the dispatch to New York in the hands of a priavte messenger:

Last week the Prince of Wales while taking tea in an inn at a British outpost near Ypres was shot in the arm by a French corporal The attendant at the inn is an attractive looking young woman who was passing an an unmarried girl under the name of Barthou, but as a matter of fact she is married to a corporal named Huguet in a French hussar regiment.

Mlle. Barthou has many admirers among the British staff officers, for whom the in became a popular resort for tea or other refreshments when any of the staff had to visit this part of the British lines. News of this state of affairs reached the husband, who became furious jealous.

As a matter of fact the stories that had reached Huguet were grossly exaggerated. The British staff officers treated Mlle. Barthou properly and between none of them and the pretty Bretonne was there any levity of conduct or undue familiarity.

On Sunday last her husband obtained 24 hours' leave from the trenches and he unexpectedly turned up at the inn where his wife was employed at about 5 in the afternoon. The Prince of Wales and another staff officer were having tea in theinn at the moment. It appears that Huguet watched his wife talking to the prince and his companion for some minutes and then was seized with a blind rage. He rushed into the room and, without a word of warning, fired two shots in succession, one at his wife and another at the two officers. Then he turned the weapon on himself.

The prince and his companion sprang at him, but the corporal fired before he could be seized and wounded himself in the neck. The Prince of Wales was wounded in his arm just above the wrist. The corporal was taken to a field hospital by the Prince of Wales in his motor car, where the prince also had his wound dressed.

MACHINISTS WAGES

Tentative Agreement with Assistant Secretary of the Navy

A tentative agreement on an increased wage scale for the machinists of the Washington Navy Yard was reached yesterday when the machinist committee, of which Nelson P. Alifas is chairman, resumed its conference with Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt.

The proposed scale will be submitted to the machinists at a meeting at Naval Lodge Hall tomorrow evening, according to present plans for acceptance or rejection. It is known that the conference with the navy officials removed several of the points at issue and that there is likelihood that a wage scale giving a slight increase over that approved by Secretary Daniels will be accepted.

It was made plain to the wage committee of the machinists yesterday that the scale of wages paid at Bridgeport, Conn., cannot be regarded as having any bearing on the scale paid here, as Bridgeport is not considered to be in the "vicinity" of Washington.

FARMER SHOT FROM AMBUSH

John W. Burnett Fired Upon When He Opened His Door.

Federalsburg, Md., Oct. 9— John W. Burnett, a well-to-do farmer who lives alone on a farm about two miles from this town in Dorchester county, was the victim of a murderous attack Thursday night.

Mr. Burnett, noticing the continuous barking of his dog, went to investigate when, upon opening the door, he was fired upon by some one outside whom he could not see. The bullet passed through the fleshy portion of his left leg.

The old man was stunned by the wound, but, reviving, made an attempt to arm himself in case of further attack. As his assailant did not return at once, Mr. Burnett managed to reach the home of a neighbor, where he spent the night.

Upon visiting his house yesterday morning he found that the entire place had been plundered, but very little booty was gained.

NEW YORKERS GREET MRS. GALT

Many Pleasant Exclamations Follow Her Appearance in City

PRESIDENT A NEW MAN

Lines in His Face, Superinduced by Cares of State, Seem to Have Been Eliminated.

New York, Oct. 9—New York likes the new First Lady of the Land.

The chorus, "Oh ISN'T she lovely!" has pursued President Wilson's fiancee since the arrival of the Presidential party here yesterday afternoon. And here's a wager that the baseball lights of the world will have to divide attention with Mrs. Norman Galt when she arrives in Philadelphia this afternoon with the President for the second clash of the world series.

President Wilson himself was only a secondary object of interest to the New York crowds today, as he was yesterday and last night. He shone by reflected light. When the good-natured throng that followed the party trained its eyes on the President at all it was to see how he was enjoying the reception to the mistress-to-be of the White House.

"He looks like a new man," was the audible comment from one of the automobiles trailing the President as he turned a happy smile upon Mrs. Galt

The President's fiancee acrose early today at the St. Regis, where she is stopping during her brief visit. The first visitor was a maid who brought a large bouquet of flowers from President Wilson. Mrs. Galt had breakfast in her room with her mother, Mrs. H. W. Bolling, and the President's cousin Miss Helen Bones. The President's bouquet was the centerpiece of the breakfast table.

President Wilson breakfasted with Colonel House in the latter's apartment and motored to the St. Regis to meet Mrs. Galt, at 9 a. m. They planned an automobile trip through the downtown section of New York, with excursions into a few stores, before boarding the train for Philadelphia for the world's series.

Perhaps the climax to the popular ovations given the new mistress of the White House was that at the Empire Theater last night, where the Presidential party went after dinner at Colonel House's apartment.

The audience rose and applauded vigorously as the President and his fiancee appeared in a flag bedecked box The President smiled broadly. As he bowed Mrs. Galt's face flushed slightly and her hazel eyes were snapping as she acknowledged the applause.

WILL SWEDEN ENTER WAR?

Leader of Socialist Party Declares the Situation is to be Viewed With Grave Aprehension

Stockholm, Oct. 9—There is only one combination of circmstances which is likely to draw Sweden into the war, in the opinion of Hjalmar Branting, leader of the Socialist party of Sweden, and generally admitted to be the most likely candidate for premier at the next election.

"If the English-Sweden trade negotiations fall through," said Mr. Branting, "and at the same time trouble should arise in Finland, the situation produced by these two misfortunes would be an alarming one. It would then be impossible to restrain the pro-German element of this country from rushing into war. This element is numerically small, but it is powerful beyond its numbers. We must not ignore the posibility of such a catastrophe and I cannot help viewing the situation with grave apprehension.

"I still have hope that the difficulty with England will be satisfactorily settled, and the possibility that the Germanophile interests in Finland will stir up trouble there is, I think, a remote one. I do not, therefore, consider this prospect of war particularly threatening at the present time but it is distinctly within the range of possibilities."

AFTER OYSTER DEALERS

Julius Graham, of the State Pure Food Department, Making Inspection in Alexandria

The State Pure Food Department is bent upon enforcing the law relating to gathering and selling of oysters. As has been stated by the department, the only place upon the Potomac where oysters grow and which has been pronounced unpolluted is Monroe's Creek, back of Colonial Beach.

Julius Graham, representing the Pure Food Department, is again in the city, and is engaged in inspecting places where the bivalves are sold. He is determined to force every dealer to conduct his place according to requirements, after which certificates setting forth that all laws have been complied with will be issued. Mr. Graham is acting under the following instructions from Richmond:

I will be glad to have you visit the oyster packing houses in Alexandria and Fredericksburg and report the conditions you find therein. I am sending you under separate cover circulars in connection with the sanitation of oyster packing houses and I desire you to insist upon the conformance, as far as practical, with these requirements, but especially to insist upon the requirements set forth in circular 14, section 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, and 17. In addition to the specific requirements set forth in the circular in connection with Section 12 in regard to the use of receptacles which may be easily sterilized with boiling water or live steam, I beg to say that you will issue positive instrctions that the use of wooden receptacles for transportation or delivery of shucked oysters, when the shucked oysters would be in contact with the wood or wooden surface painted or paraffined, that the oysters will be subjected to rigid examination for contamination. It is practically impossible to sterilize properly the wooden package. Further than this, where the wooden package is used the custom is generally adopted of inserting in the centre of the oysters enclosed in a metal cone, a block of ice for the purpose of keeping the oysters chilled. The use of this ice container in contact with the oyster when the container has not been sterilized, is a very fruitful source of contamination and should be discontinued. You are further advised that the use of mechanical agitators, for the alleged purpose of cleaning the oysters, will be regarded as an adulteration, since they add both volume and bacteria to the oyster and reduce its solid content."

COL. ALEX. DAMON HERE

Field Secretary of Salvation Army to Make Three Addresses Tomorrow

Col. Alex. M. Damon, of New York, field secretary of the Salvation Army, is in Alexandria and will make three addresses here tomorrow. In the morning he will preach in St. Paul's Episcopal Church. At 3 o'clock in the Richmond Theatre he will deliver his famous lecture, "In Darkest America," which is illustrated by 125 views and tomorrow night at 8 o'clock he will speak in the M. E. Church South, on "The Call of God."

If Colonel Damon had not elected to enter the Salvation Army it is more than likely that he would have been an important officer in some large corporation where system and method are among the most valuable assets. At an early age, however, the Field Secretary was attracted to the big militant organization and had himself enrolled as a soldier in the ranks.

Although a New Englander, with pride of birth natural to its people, he graciously submitted to the discipline exacted by The Salvation Army. When he became a candidate for officership in the organization and was accepted he yielded readily to all its rules. He sold War Crys on the streets visited the slums of the big cities and did all those practical things which General Booth always insisted contributed largely to the efficiency and usefulness of a soldier of The Cross.

Probably no man in the United States rose more rapidly in the organization than Colonel Damon. When he was promoted to the office of Field Secretary his associates predicted for him a brilliant career. He has not disappointed them. On a number of occasions Commander Evangeline Booth has publicly complimented the Colonel on his devotion, efficiency and success.

Colonel Damon is an eloquent and persuasive speaker. He tells his story forcefully and never fails to reach the heart of his audience. His position in The Salvation Army is such as to require more or less devotion to system and system often has the effect of making its devotees cold in their manner. It has, however, had precisely the opposite effect on the Field Secretary. He always has a smile and a cheery word for his callers.

He is said to be better acquainted with the inner workings of The Salvation Army in the United States than any officer in it, with the possible exception of Miss Booth and the Chief Secretary, Colonel William Peart. He is versatile and humorous. While looking upon life as a serious problem, he insists that the smile is a God given blessing and ought to be used for all it is worth.

The Colonel has been a great traveler. He has visited many countries in the interest of The Salvation Army and has probably preached in more pulpits in The United State than any pulpits in The United State than any other officer under The Salvation Army flag.

TOTTERING MONARCHIES.

The father of the present Kaiser is quoted as saying that there might be no such position as king for his grandchildren. The wave of republicanism is spreading all the time, and those who now occupy thrones are naturally apprehensive.

Revolution is rumbling beneath more than one throne, even though the reverberations of approaching doom may not be distinctly heard. The most astonishing sign of this condition is the well-accredited story that comes from England. In a passionate scene with Premier Asquith at Buckingham Palace, King George is said to have laid down the fiat that, rather than consent to an inconclusive peace, he would abdicate the throne and not consent to its occupancy by any of his children. Such a peace, he declared, would mean for England defeat and would create a condition intolerable for the nation.

The Baltimore American in connection says:

The recent speeches of Lloyd George and Winston Churchill, in which they hinted that a conclusive war could only be fought out through a policy of conscription, seems to have been taken by the monarch as a sign of England consenting to a draw in the war that it professes to be prepared to fight to the finish. The division in the cabinet over conscription thus has illuminating aspects. It appears that back of the opposition to the plan of forced army service lies the sentiment not given publicity but strong nevertheless, for England to save it its men and means as much as possible and to be prepared to make the most of a peace that should be undecisive.

King George is said to have declared with vehemence that a king in such a crisis of his country should be a leader and not a dummy. Thus the recruiting question has shaken the throne itself and the present dynasty may pass in the throes of the problem that is dividing the country. Thus is revolution, peaceful or violent, indicated for England, unless the cabinet can come to agreement. The passing of King George and his family would be followed by the setting up of a republic.

How many other thrones are tottering in the great cataclysm of the war, only some crystallizing issue as in the case of England, will determine. Whether the story of the English King's declaration of independence of his counselors is or is not authentic, it at least indicates that the war has taken hold upon the very foundations of British society and is shaking them mightily.

PERILS TO AUTOMOBILISTS

Fortunately, so far, Alexandria automobilists have not been victims of serious automobile accidents, but they are of daily occurrence in many sections of the country, and such disasters are likely to occur here.

The lamentable automobile accident near Mumford, N. Y., by which three young persons lost their lives and five others were injured, is one of the sharp reminder that the modern high-powered horseless vehicle is not a child's toy; that it has high potential energy for evil when operated by an inexperienced driver.

In the first application for a patent on an automobile energized by an internal combustion engine, made in a northern city, it was accurately designated as a road locomotive. In this respect it has not changed its nature. Familiarity with the machine tends to dull appreciation of the possibilities of an engine of from 50 to 100 or more horse power, when operated on an ordinary roadway, without rails.

The car in the accident referred to above was being driven at a very high speed by a 17-year-old boy, the son of Vits owner, and none of the eight occupants of the big automobile was over 20 years of age.

It is not a desirable task to deduce lessons from such extremely sad occurrences, nor, indeed, is it necessary. But there are some plain and stubborn truths which are self-evident and which cannot be too often pointed out. Every day, in the most traffic-congested sections of the big cities, large touring cars built for high speeds and endowed with from 50 to 80 or 100 horse power, are driven by girls, some of whom are in their early teens, and boys who are not yet in the high school. From the very nature of things these children cannot have the technical knowledge of motor machinery which is necessary for the safe operatioin of an automobile. It is unreasonable to expect that they will emulate the caution and poise of an experienced railroad locomotive engineer. Yet more caution, poise, and experience are necessary in the fast driving of a high-power touring car then in the mere mechanical management of the locomotive of a fast express train. For the latter tends to remain on its firm steel rails, while the natural tendency of the motor car is to go wandering upon the urban sidewalks, and to rush to the fields and along the countryside highways.

MUCH FOR WHICH TO BE THANKFUL

The formal day of Thanksgiving is still weeks away. But every day should be a Thanksgiving Day in a nation so blessed as our. Surely the powers above seem to have singled us out as the special beneficiaries of their great bounty and loving-kindness, says a contemporary which draws the following contrasts:

Europe: Between fifteen and twenty million men in arms to slaughter one another and pull down opposing governments; two or three million killed or maimed; millions of households in mourning; the skies blackened and the earth shaken by the continual roar of artillery; the vast army of the destitute constantly increasing; national resources strained almost to the snapping point to maintain the gigantic competition in destruction; horror and anxiety on the threshold of each morning and as the gloomy watchers through each night; great areas torn and devastated and nature halted and paralyzed in her normal work of construction; the hearts of untold multitudes failing them for fear of what is still to come.

The United States: Between fifteen and twenty million men working together to upbuild their country and to promote the reign of law; no clouds in our heavens but the smoke of industry; no conflict but civic battles for ideals and no contests but peaceful contest for the improvement of government and of the conditions of life; no problem but the problem of increasing happiness and prosperity; no wasted fields and desolated homes, but a fruitful partnership between man and nature which has produced this year and last such crops as grow only in the peaceful gardens of the Lord; and hope and strength and justice giving beauty to our days and confidence and calm to our nights.

The woman would not give her name to the police, but said she was from Philadelphia, and not the man's wife.

The tragical aftermath of Huerta's treason and the murder of Madero has overwhelmed Alberto Garcia Granados, Huerta's first minister of the interior, who early yesterday morning was convicted of complicity in the plots against Madero's administration and was sentenced to death. Granados, who is 68 years old, collapsed twice during the trial and fainted while the president of the military court was pronouncing sentence. Unless Carranza intervenes—as he has been asked to do by Granados' friends—there is little chance that the former minister can escape facing a firing squad.

GO NO FARTHER.

The Evidence is at Your Door.

Alexandria proof is what you want and the statement of this highly respected resident will banish all doubt.

Mrs. R. H. Dawson, 409 N. West St., Alexandria, says: "My back was so stiff and lame that I couldn't do anything without great suffering. When I got down, it was almost impossible for me to straighten up. Sharp twinges often caught me in the small of my back and hips and I couldn't move until they eased up. In the morning, my back ached so badly that I could hardly get out of bed. My kidneys were irregular in action and the kidney secretions caused me much misery. I felt all out of sorts and had no ambition to do anything. A neighbor advised me to take Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at C. W. Summers' Drug Store. I never took another medicine that acted so quickly. One box put my kidneys in good working order and made my back strong."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Dawson recommends; Foster Milburn Co., props., Buffalo, N. Y.

GERMANS THREAT

Greek Refusal to Resent Allies' Landing May be Held to Forfeit Neutrality.

Berlinfi Oct. 9—The German government has lodged a protest in Athens against the landing of troops on Greek territory by the entente powers. The reply of Greece has not been received.

The Franfurter Zeltung says:

"The Greek government, even under new men, will not be able to oppose the illegal act in Saloniki otherwise than by formal protest. The protest which Germany made to Athens does not ignore the difficult situation of Greece, but is, at the same time, a warning that silent sufferance of further encroachments by the entente on the sovereign right of Greece would be a breach of neutrality by Greece herself. Any favor of the entente's military preparations at Saloniki by the Greek authorities would undoubtedly constitute a transgression of the limits which can be considered reasonable in view of Greece's emergency."

ANOTHER STORM COMING

Vessels Warned Against Severe West Indian Hurricane

Washington, Oct. 8—Another West Indian storm, headed apparently for the American coast is reported in the Gulf of Mexico. Storm warnings were ordered displayed on the Gulf Coast from Mobile to Cedar Keys, Fla.

The first report of the storm came in a radiogram from a vessel in the middle of the gulf, which said it was a well defined disturbance.

The usual course of West Indian disturbances, prevalent at this season, is northward sometimes veering westward toward the Texas and Lousisna coasts, the course of the two other big storms this year, and sometimes eastward, after striking the coast. The probable course of the present storm could not be determined by weather bureau officials today from the meager information at hand.
